Getting Stuck with Industrial Adhesive Tapes and Fixings

UK Industrial Tapes Ltd has extended its range of products and services as a source for advice and assistance where self adhesives are required, for specialist industrial applications, including automotive, electronic and printing.

The company has over 10 years experience in supplying specialist adhesive tapes, foam pads, display and plastic film products for applications throughout the UK.

The vast range of tapes and ancillary products offer the very best solutions for fixing in wide array of applications. These include applications where superior resistance to moisture, temperature variants from as low as -40° C to +150° C and high strength are required. They offer a full technical backup and evaluation service for these products and will work closely with a company to select and in some cases develop a suitable adhesive tape solutions.
